

Paul Nonno

Vice President, General Manager

Paul Nonno was appointed Vice President and General Manager of ASW Supply Chain Services in December, 2021. In this role Paul leads the Supply Chain Services business unit.

Paul has held a variety of positions in Manufacturing, Operations, Quality Control, Industrial Engineering, and Logistics Management. He has managed warehousing and transportation globally with experience throughout Europe and Asia. Nonno has extensive experience leading global supply chains to support manufacturing and has had a long career of leading technology rollouts to include WMS and LMS launches.

Additionally, Paul is a transportation industry veteran having begun his career working in the LTL industry for a national carrier. He has had a long career of driving continuous improvement globally with a strong focus of driving value to the customer and actively promotes continuous improvement in alignment with ASW's Core Competencies in order to support future growth relating to increased profitability, customer satisfaction, and supplier relationships.

Paul earned a bachelor's degree in Industrial Management from the University of Akron and obtained his Six Sigma Black Belt from Georgia Tech. He also serves as an Advisory Board Member on the University of Akron's Supply Chain and Operations Management Board.