

André Thornton

President and CEO

André Thornton acquired ASW Global, LLC, a supply chain management company, in January of 2007. As the Chief Executive Officer, André sets the direction of the company and directs operational aspects so that they follow the strategic plans and policies of the organization.

Thornton has thirty years of experience in Entrepreneurial ventures. As one of the Principals in Apple Partners, he helped guide a highly successful restaurant management group that was sold to Applebee's International. André also founded a successful consulting company and continues to speak nationally on Executive Leadership, Organizational Change, and Diversity; having engagements with more than one-thousand groups and businesses.

Thornton played professional baseball for twenty-one years and was an honored recipient of the Roberto Clemente Award in 1979, which goes to the player who best exemplifies the game of baseball, sportsmanship, community involvement, and team contribution. He spent eleven seasons with the Cleveland Indians where he was a two-time All-Star and received the coveted Silver Slugger Award in 1984. Additionally, Thornton was inducted into the Cleveland Sports Hall of Fame and named as one of the 100 greatest Cleveland Indians.

André graduated magna cum laude, obtaining his Bachelor's Degree from Capital University. He is co-author of the book Triumph Born of Tragedy and was twice featured in McGraw-Hill/Irwin national educational videos for his entrepreneurial and marketing leadership success at GPI Procurement Services where he served as President and CEO. Thornton has served on numerous boards including the Greater Cleveland Partnership, the Greater Akron Chamber, and currently serves on the boards of Farmers National Bank Corp, AMG Industries and the International Warehouse and Logistics Association. His leadership roles also included serving as Kent State University President's Ambassador and he is a member/graduate of Leadership Cleveland 1997.
